

THE AMERICAN DREAM

“Salvaging Spanish Sunken Treasure”

The Bob “Frogfoot” Weller Summer Seminar

June 18-21

2012

Conducted by

Margaret “Lady Gold-Diver” Weller

“When you consider that over 3,000 shipwrecks line the east coast of Florida alone, then the American Dream of Salvaging Spanish Sunken Treasure is within the realm of possibility. Florida is considered the epicenter of salvage activities, with the 1622 Atocha recovery west of Key West as the greatest treasure to date at $400 million. The important fact is that there is still treasure left to be recovered.”

—Bob “Frogfoot” Weller, 2008.

Bob left us a tradition and a legacy ... his Sunken Treasure Seminars. His team of Friends and Guest Lecturers and I have made the decision to continue these sessions in his honor. Herewith is the Seminar Schedule, based on his most recent Series and tailored to the 2012 Season. The list of divers, scientists, beach hunters, historians and other professionals on page-3 are the Lecturers from which this year’s team will be selected, as our individual agendas permit.

Interested persons have already contacted us by e-mail, letter, and telephone, and “down payment checks are pending.” This brochure is the first “official” notice of the 2012 Summer Seminars, and I sincerely recommend that you notify me of your interest/intentions promptly, since these classes usually fill up quickly. I have ten “seats” (plus two spares) reserved for the four-day session.

Tuition is $1,250 for the four days, $350 deposit at registration/balance due on arrival. This will include your workbook and a copy of Salvaging Spanish Sunken Treasure. When you commit, I will send further details regarding the seminar and a list of local accommodations. Please contact me at (your choice):
